

After receiving Andrew's diagnosis we were more than overwhelmed, we knew we wanted to dive in and do everything possible to help our son, but we had no idea where to start or who to ask. A friend recommended Abilities and we went hopeful it would point us in the right direction.

Abilities gave us so much more than we ever expected. It gave us clarity, direction, a plan of attack, and most of all support. We learned so much about the immediate and how to plan for the future. The strides Andrew has made are incredible, and I know that Abilities helped make that happen. The guidance and information we had access to helped us make the best decisions for him- and we are forever grateful.
