

"Uneducable" to College Graduate and Beyond

This family chooses to focus on what can be accomplished and the strengths of each individual rather than the challenges faced. After being dealt "The Big Three" as Angela calls it, (Cerebral Palsy, Epilepsy, and Autism) and then being told by the school system that she was "uneducable" she and her family pushed forward. She continued to defy the odds. Now a recent College Graduate, with a boyfriend and new job, she and her mom Rori discuss their journey to success and some of the elements that helped them achieve so much. With Rori Becker and Angela Becker
